The new sportswear materials were created to mimic the increasingly high-tech and varied nature of sportswear clothing, where fabrics must breathe and offer maximum durability to stand out. The collection also reflects the wide variation of fabric weaves athletes need, from the thicker materials found on shoes to the sheer materials used on lightweight outfits, usually favored by those in warmer climates in need of breathable materials.

The new sportswear materials complement the massive Textile Collection released in 2017, which introduced the first professional-grade textiles to Substance Source. Today, Substance Source users can access nearly 1,000 materials, ensuring that users can quickly find
